Write Me Three

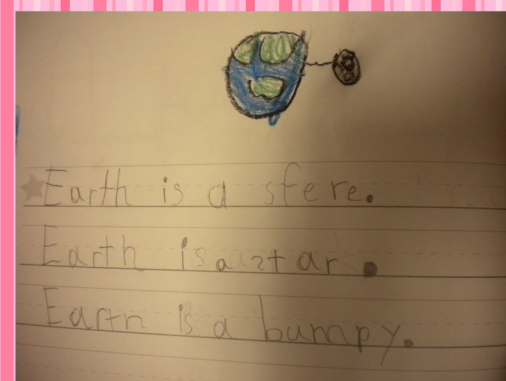

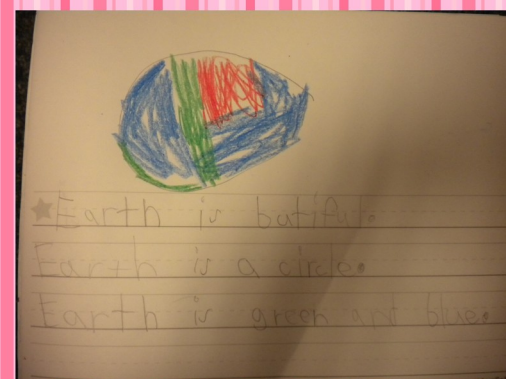

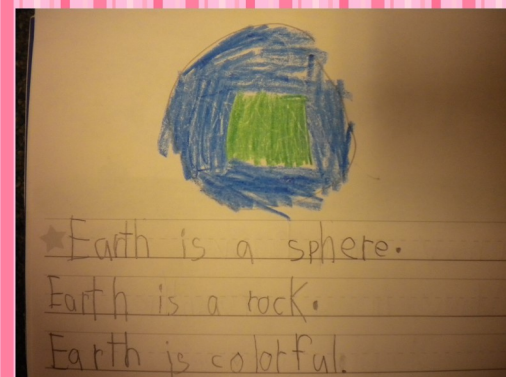

Here are some actual examples of my students using the Write Me Three format. They are from other packs.

On the left, the kids wrote about what their snowman has. They added the describing word, then the noun. This was done in January.

On the right they filled out their Write Me Three sheets for the Earth (not shown.) THEN they used that sheet to guide their paragraph writing about the Earth. This work was done in February.

As time progresses, students learn to use "it" and "they" or "he" or "she" to change and shorten some of the sentences... even better!

Write Me Three

I hope you enjoy this Write Me Three & More writing activities. They were a teacher request! I hope this saves you a ton of preparation time implementing standards, FUN, and learning in your classroom.
